Property Description

This beautifully appointed contemporary home sits on five acres, 1000 feet above the ocean in the area known as Lagunas 15 minutes from Dominical's beaches in the Southern Pacific Zone of Costa Rica. Surrounded by jungle, it offers a private and tranquil setting with views west down a jungle clad valley to the ocean and the white water beaches of Guapil and Matapalo. Designed by Swiss architect Hans Pfister, Oasis is a unique combination of artfully curved concrete roofs and angled interior walls. The living and utility areas of the house occupy almost 5000 square feet, the main house being all on one level. The main house features two master suites at opposite ends of the house, separated by the kitchen and living room area, complemented by a formal dining room that comfortably seats eight guests and a combination media room/study which is air conditioned. Either of those rooms could easily be modified to serve as a third bedroom.
