Property Description

This unique home is located in the high end community of Lagunas, in the southern Pacific zone of Costa Rica, and offers complete privacy, mountain views, a southern ocean view and tons of tropical wildlife on more than 5 undulating acres...monkeys, toucans, hawks, humming birds and deer to name just a few of the animals that frequent this property. The 4,300 square foot home is solidly constructed of concrete and rebar, with bamboo decorative finishes on the ceilings of the second floor. The floor plan was designed as two independent units to provide rental options. Each floor is equipped with two bedrooms, living area (inside and out), kitchen, full bath and a half bath. The second floor has its own private entrance from the 2 car garage with an additional parking space and the first floor terrace. There is room for a pool or additional construction on the property. Alternatively, with some minor modifications, you could personalize it into your own large, private retreat.
