Property Description

The Bromelias de Tapantí farm is a beautiful property of 54 hectares located 20 minutes from downtown Cartago, at an altitude of 1600 meters above sea level and is surrounded by an exuberant natural beauty, typical of the Tropical Mountain Forest since it is located in a buffer zone due to its proximity to the Tapantí National Park, making this property a beautiful and close place of relaxation where the quality of the air, the observation of birds and various animal and plant species, as well as the scenic views are part of daily life. It also has a Main House that has 3 bedrooms with its 3 bathrooms, plus an adjacent guest room with a bathroom. The house has a fully equipped kitchen, laundry room, storage room, living room, dining room, a large living room that has a sitting area where you can watch television, it has a bar, a pizza oven, a fireplace and a BBQ area. The property also has another social area, separate from the main house that has a living room and a bar with a spectacular view of the mountains.
